WHO WE ARE

When Light Breaks is an alternative metal project formed by multi-instrumentalist and producer DVRK PRISM, and vocalist Blegh Lady. Based in the United States, the group combines traditional heavy metal instrumentation with modern electronic elements, low-tuned guitar work, and a wide vocal dynamic ranging from melodic singing to extreme vocal techniques.

On November 6th, the alternative metal project When Light Breaks officially introduced themselves to the world with the release of their debut single, 'Pre-Human State.' Formed by multi-instrumentalist and producer DVRK PRISM alongside vocalist Blegh Lady, the United States-based group delivers a heavy mix of traditional instrumentation, low-tuned guitar work, and modern electronic elements. The track's official music video was filmed and directed by Tom Flynn.

Prior to the formation of the band, both members pursued independent creative paths in music and visual arts. Chaparro, an experienced guitarist and audio engineer, previously performed with the metalcore outfit Eyes of Paradise before establishing his solo production handle, DVRK PRISM. Blegh Lady built an audience as an extreme metal vocalist, tattoo artist, and creator.

A significant turning point occurred when both members relocated from Spain to the United States. Following the cross-continental move, the duo consolidated their creative efforts into a unified band project. The relocation marked an expansion in their sonic scope, shifting from standalone production efforts to a fully collaborative alternative metal outfit that integrated their combined backgrounds in songwriting, digital audio production, and visual design.
